

If you haven't seen the Carousel horse on the front porch of the Municipal Building you need to come by and check it out. The horse is here temporarily. It will be on display until the Carousel Festival in September. This is a Downtown Public Art Project. There are several other Downtown businesses that have horses that will be on display as well. The horse at the Municipal Building will be auctioned at the Carousel Festival and the money raised will go into an account for restoration of the Carousel at City Park.
